

SUN

TELEGRAPHIC SUMMARY, ETC.

The signal service prediction for today is fair weather, followed by local rains.

A crisis is threatened in Belgium, and it is reported that the ministry will resign—Chinese troops continue to pour into Tonquin, causing great uneasiness in Paris—Late reports from the Southern Soudan report that the country is in better condition than was believed—Cardinal Bartolomeo d'Avanzo, bishop of Calvi, is dead—The Pope will create eight cardinals at a secret consistory.

The injunction on the P. W. and B. Road restraining it from refusing to haul the B. and O. trains has been dissolved, the P. W. and B. having taken an appeal and given an indemnity bond—The school board balloted for an assistant superintendent of schools, without result—A delegation of residents of the Belt applied to the Baltimore county commissioners for more police protection—The Grand Encampment of Odd-Fellows elected officers—The Oriole entertainment was a marked success—The Maryland Baptist Union held its forty-ninth annual meeting—Louis Salzer shot himself twice in the head, and one of the wounds is very serious.

The Secretary of State has designated Mr. Casson, United States minister to Germany, representative of the United States at the Congo conference in Berlin. The government property at Harper's Ferry will be sold at public auction today. Acting Commissioner Parsons Clark has made a report in reply to the charge that Commissioner Dudley had neglected his office duties while conducting the Ohio republican canvass.

Mr. Harvey F. Johnson, a juror in the trial Mills, for the murder of Capt. Davis, died yesterday, and a new jury had to be selected. A patrol has been organized in Accomac, Va., for protection against incendiarism. Forest fires have broken out again in the woods in Cecil. The venerable ex-Judge Richard B. Carmichael died yesterday in Queen Anne's county, in the 77th year of his age. John Hesse, a miner, was shot and killed early yesterday morning at Eckhart, Md.

Mr. Blaine left Fort Wayne, Ind., yesterday morning and reached Indianapolis in the afternoon, where he addressed a large audience. He discussed the tariff, and referred to the solid South as an unholy alliance, which the democrats were trying to persuade Indiana and New York to join.

A stray sailboat was picked up on the Delaware river on Sunday, a few miles from Philadelphia. It left Cohansy creek on Friday morning with three men aboard, who are supposed to have been lost.

The Mexican secretary of the treasury has issued an order to customs collectors at Paso del Norte, Laredo and Chihuahua to pass without delay all goods shipped in bond for the City of Mexico or other interior cities.

The Supreme Castle of the Ancient Order of the Knights of the Mystic Chain met in Gettysburg yesterday. Thirty delegates representing twenty-five States are in attendance.

The firm of Donnell, Lawson & Simpson, New York bankers, which failed during the recent panic in Wall street, announce that they expect to resume business today.

Monroe Whidbee, who was caught in a cave-in on the Waring sewer excavation in Norfolk, died of his injuries Monday night.

The three-masted schooner Mary J. Hubbard, of one thousand tons burden, was wrecked at Milford, Del., yesterday.

JUDGE CARMICHAEL DEAD.

CLOSE OF AN HONORED CAREER.

LAWYER, JUDGE AND STATESMAN.

His Resistance to Military Encroachments—Dragged from the Bench and Imprisoned—A Notable Incident of the War—His Life and Public Services. [Special Dispatch to the Baltimore Sun.]

CENTREVILLE, MD., Oct. 21.—Hon. Richard B. Carmichael died at his residence, "Wye," near Queenstown, Queen Anne's county, at 5.20 this morning. He had been in feeble health for several years, but was in full possession of his faculties with the exception of a slight deafness, and, notwithstanding a lameness, due to rheumatism in one of his legs, was able to ride on horseback and take a good deal of active exercise. He made two trips to Baltimore during the summer, visiting his daughter, Mrs. Charles Tilghman, on Hutaw Place, near Dolphin street, and one to Annapolis, where he spent several days at "Acton," the residence of his niece, Mrs. James Murray, wife of Pay-Dir. Murray, U. S. N. He also made a trip to Old Point a few weeks ago. He was recently quite sick from an attack of indigestion, but was in his usual health on Saturday last, so that his death, though not unexpected, was comparatively sudden. He had been under medical treatment for heart trouble for some time past, and his death is attributed by his physician to paralysis of the heart.

Sketch of His Career.

Richard Bennett Carmichael was born at Centreville, Queen Anne's county, Md., on the 25th of December, 1807. He was the only son of William Carmichael and Sarah, daughter of Edward Downes, of the same county. William Carmichael was the son of Richard Bennett Carmichael, who in turn was the son of William Carmichael, the first settler. William Carmichael came from Scotland and settled at Round Top, at the head of Chester river, famous in recent years as one of the largest, if not the largest, peach farms in the world. His wife was a Miss Brooke, niece of the second wife of Richard Bennett, who was one of the wealthiest planters of his day, and owned large tracts of land in Queen Anne's and Talbot counties. Bennett died without issue, and left a vast estate to his widow, who bequeathed a considerable portion of it to the Carmichaels, sons of her niece, one of whom was named Richard Bennett, after her husband. William Carmichael, second, entered the diplomatic service of the American colonies on the breaking out of the revolutionary war. While on his way home to America, in July, 1776, with dispatches from Arthur Lee, he was detained in Paris by sickness and assisted Silas Deane, the American minister, in his correspondence and transaction of business for more than a year. He communicated to the King of Prussia, at Berlin, intelligence concerning American commerce; assisted the American commissioners at Paris; was a delegate to Congress from Maryland in 1778-'80; was secretary of legation during Mr. Jay's mission to Spain, and when the latter left Spain, in June, 1782, remained as charge d'affaires and retained that office about thirteen years. In March, 1792, Wm. Short was joined with him in a commission to negotiate a treaty with Spain, but the attempt was unsuccessful and proceedings were instituted against Lieutenant-Colonel Bailey and others, for illegally arresting persons for the purpose of influencing the elections. Judge Carmichael's bold and aggressive course was naturally viewed with extreme displeasure at Washington, and on the 23d of May, 1862, when the trials of the persons indicted were about to commence, Deputy Provost Marshal McPhail received instructions from Gen. Dix, commanding at Baltimore, to proceed to Easton, the county seat of Talbot, and arrest Judge Carmichael and the State's attorney, I. C. W. Powell, on the charge of treason. On the following morning McPhail left Baltimore on the steamer Champion, accompanied by his deputies, William H. Cassell, John L. Bishop, Easton Horner and James Fryor, and Lieut.-Col. Bailey, Captain Ricketts, Captain Chredtman and Lieut. Geyer, of the Second Delaware regiment. The military officers had been summoned to appear before the court to stand their trial on the charge of having interfered with the freedom of electors. The party reached Easton on Saturday evening, May 24, and took quarters at the hotel. Early on Sunday morning the rumor had spread through the town that officers had arrived from Baltimore for the purpose of arresting Judge Carmichael, and great excitement ensued. Apprehending an outbreak, Marshal McPhail telegraphed Gen. Dix for troops, and 125 men of the Delaware regiment were at once dispatched to the scene. They arrived at Wye Landing on Tuesday, May 27, but owing to a misapprehension of their orders did not proceed at once to Easton. In the meantime the arrest of Judge Carmichael had been effected. Accompanied by his deputies, Marshal McPhail proceeded to the court-house, where the Judge was in the act of trying a case. Advancing to the platform, McPhail placed his hand upon Judge Carmichael's shoulder and told him to consider himself a prisoner. The Judge demanded his authority for making the arrest, whereupon McPhail replied, "The authority of the United States government." Judge Carmichael then asked for the marshal's warrant and to be informed of what he was accused. McPhail replied that he had no warrant, and that the charge would be made known when he (the Judge) arrived at Fort McHenry. Judge Carmichael then protested against the arrest, and remarked that the marshal had no right to interfere with the proceedings of the court while in session. The marshal thereupon turned to the spectators and exclaimed: "This court stands adjourned." Judge Carmichael retorted that he had no right to adjourn the court and ordered the clerk to arrest one of the marshal's deputies, who had threatened to take him (the Judge) from the bench. The deputy resisted and choked the clerk, and Marshal McPhail gave the order to seize the judge and drag him from the bench. Deputy Marshal Bishop at once seized the Judge by the throat, but was repulsed. The other deputies then closed in upon the Judge and beat him over the head with the butts of their revolvers. Deputy Marshal Cassell interfered for his protection, but not until five wounds had been inflicted, and the Judge, stunned and bleeding, had been dragged from the recess behind the desk at which he was sitting. After his wounds had been dressed he was taken on board the steamer Balloon, and in company with Mr. Powell, the State's attorney, and William Nabb and Alexis Pascault, citizens of Easton, who had also been arrested, was conveyed to Fort McHenry, where he was kept in confinement until the 9th of June, 1862, when he was taken to Fort Lafayette. On the 23d of September he was taken to Fort Delaware, and on the 2d of December was unconditionally released. No trial had been granted him, nor had any notice been taken of repeated demands upon the President and the other authorities to

SUPPLEMENT

Politics
Society
Exhibitions
[S]
Washington
Supplies
Commerce
Up on Distribution
Unusual
Tenders
Form
State
Since
been
open
is un
revel
with
court
for
could
term
born
is his
Pres
spect
venh
fesse
did n
to m
the i
who
mont
ably
acce
and
dent
Rep
claim
sett
grab
and
the p
speak
their
such
prof
fall
char
publ
of t
crats
It i
wher
sylva
poll
has b
in M
mer,
in hi
Blain
Mu
state
the v
and i
nifica
ex-C Manc

WA
signa
conti
exist
valle
fall
valle
conti