the investigation was resumed. A number of witnesses were examined none of whom were able to identify the parties.

Leslie Green, colored, testified that he came to Annapolis in a hurry; met a number of buggies on the Severn River bridge, but saw but one man, who, when he addressed him, placed his hands before his face and hid himself from view; the man wore a cutaway coat of black material; he lived in the third district and was on his way to Annapolis after his mother-in-law, who lives near the jail. His wife was ill and he hurried to town, reaching here at 2 o'clock. He met a number of teams tied to the bridge, but could not identify any of them. Neither could he identify the horse and buckboard, which he passed later on. None of the horses, he was sure, belonged to farmers living in his neighborhood. He had seen in the third district a buckboard similar to the one he passed.

Eight other witnesses testified, but no important evidence was adduced. Some of the witnesses summoned knew absolutely nothing of the occurrence and only heard of it after the killing had taken place.

The coroner, after consultation with the jury and the State's Attorney, adjourned the further hearing until Friday at noon.

Naval Academy Directory.

Including naval officers, professors, instructors, warrant officers and others, there are 73 attaches of the Naval Academy, according to the officers' directory which has been issued. Besides there are four officers in the marine corps, all of whom reside in Annapolis. Fifty-seven of the number mentioned reside within the academy limits, the balance on the outside. The following is a list of the officers now on duty:

- Commanders C. T. Hutchins, Harry Knox.

committees. The petition to open Compromise street to Spa creek bridge, was referred to the street committee.

The petition of Waterwitch Hook & Ladder Company for the use of the Assembly Rooms on October 20th, for the purpose of holding a ball, was granted.

A petition from property holders on Conduit street extended, for the widening of said street at its entrance with Gloucester street, was read; whereupon Alderman Bellis offered a resolution which was adopted, authorizing the Councilor to take such legal steps as may be necessary to condemn the necessary real estate on each side of Conduit street as may be necessary in accordance with the provisions of section 54, of Article 2, of the Code of Public Local Laws, and also such steps as he may deem necessary in accordance with the provisions of said section for assessing benefits to property owners on the lines of Conduit street.

On motion of Alderman Rideout, The Evening Capital and THE ANNAPOLIS ADVERTISER were designated as city printers for one year from November 1st, 1898, at the sum of $200 each.

Councilor Moss moved that the City Commissioner report to the Council at its next regular meeting what houses are connected with sewers, and what are not, and if they can be connected; also, what streets are not paved and curbed and what side walks are necessary to be repaired; which was adopted.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones and children, of Richmond, are at the Maryland Hotel. Mrs. Jones was formerly Miss Wilkinson of this city. Mrs. C. W. Bartlett has returned from Maine, where she has been spending the summer. Mrs. Worth, of Baltimore, has been the guest of Mrs. Bregden, Maryland Avenue. Mr. Harry J. Hopkins, clerk in the comptroller's office, who went to Omaha, Neb., as one of the commissioners from Maryland to the Trans-Mississippi International Exposition, returned Monday. Mr. Hopkins was accompanied by his wife, and both were greatly benefited by the trip. Mr. J. Edward Abbott, who is a commissioner to the Trans-Mississippi International Exposition, left at noon Monday for Omaha. He expects to be away three week, and will continue his trip to Denver, Col.

Resolution Rejected.

The city council, at its regular meeting Monday night, voted down by an almost unanimous vote a resolution offered by Alderman W. H. Bates, colored, condemning the recent lynching of Wright Smith. When the resolution was offered Mr. Moss moved that it be referred to the aldermen of the third ward, both of whom are republicans, to be acted on next Friday. A viva voce vote was taken, and the resolution was defeated. The defeated resolution recited that the city had been disgraced, and then condemned the mob for taking the law in its own hands. Only two of the council voted for the resolution.

H. Nock, 112 N. Charles St., Balto., Md. On Annapolis Short Line delegates will pay full fare to Baltimore and return free on certificate issued by the convention.

The Company in Which to Insure.

The following letters will explain themselves: Law Offices of F. H. Stockett & Son, Annapolis, Md., June, 1888. H. B. Moirs, Manager. Dear Sir: I received to-day the statements of the premiums due on the two policies I hold in the AETNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, and am gratified to see that they sustain the course of the company in giving enlarged and increasing dividends. As far as I have been able to learn there is no company in this country giving so large dividends. I am able to speak from actual knowledge as to the New York Life and Equitable.

FRANK H. STOCKETT. That Mr. Stockett's confidence was not misplaced, and that his satisfaction in his AETNA policies continued up to the time of his death is shown by the following: Frank H. Stockett, Jr., Attorney at Law, Annapolis, Md., Dec., 1896. Messrs. H. B. Moirs & Co., Gentlemen:—I desire to acknowledge receipt of checks, AETNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, for ten thousand dollars ($10,000), in payment of claim under policies Nos. 7589 and 7865 on the life of a man and executed a scoundrel who stays into the house of one of its reputable citizens during his absence and violates the sanctity of his home by either murder, rapine or assaulting in any other manner, his wife or any member of his family, but a dire necessity. What is the life of such a fiend compared with the torture of the victim, who, in a crowded court room, would be compelled, by force, to recite the horrible occurrence in all its revolting details, and with perhaps, the prisoner's counsel endeavoring to wring from her, a virtuous woman, the admission that the assault was made by and with her consent. Such a procedure I blush to say, I once witnessed in our court, when Judge Revell was prosecuting attorney, and who, I have no doubt, remembers it well. There is but one way to stop lynching in Anne Arundel county, and that is, the cessation of all such terrible crimes.

GRACE WELLS.

Months ago we started planning and buying for this Fall. Skill, time, brains, capital, all have borne the burden together and the combination has worked wonders. Oehm's Acme Hall today is better, larger, brighter and more up to date than ever before. Every department has had a thorough going over and goods are gone, everything is new, clean, and in the latest mode.

Fashion's newest fancies are mirrored here, and every best style is shown. Hats, Shoes, Furnishings, Clothing, Underwear, Shirts, Athletic Goods, everything in fact, that a man or boy needs or wants to wear is here and cannot be bought elsewhere for a cent less than Oehm's Acme Hall sells it for. The location at Baltimore and Charles streets makes Oehm's Acme Hall the most central store in Baltimore. Every car line passes the door. Retiring and Waiting Rooms, Lounging and Reading Rooms for Ladies, and the same with Smoking Room for men, are free to all who wish to use them.

DR. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP SHOULD be kept in every household. It is the best remedy for cough or cold, and is especially recommended for that gripe, cough. Price 25 cts.
