Loudoun County Court. The November term of Loudoun county Court, Judge Tabbs, on the bench, began in Leesburg, Va., Monday, Nov. 11. The day was a raw and disagreeable one but there was a fairly good crowd in attendance. A special grand jury had been summoned and that body was in session several hours. A good deal of business of more or less interest, was transacted in Court, a summary of which is appended.

Wills of James Craig and Ida M. Showcr admitted to probate. Jno. C. Boat qualified as administrator of George Beamer dec'd. Reuben Jenkins, jr., and Joseph Jenkins, qualified as executors of Reuben Jenkins, dec'd.

Jos. Jenkins qualified as administrator of Eleanor Jenkins, dec'd. Geo. W. Spiller qualified as administrator of Martha Spiller, dec'd. Geo. W. Spiller qualified as guardian of Alex. Spiller. Olivia C. J. Stribbling qualified as administratrix of Olivia J. C. Chamblin, dec'd.

Estate of William Graham committed to Sheriff. Estate of John I. Coleman committed to Sheriff. H. T. Hieronimus having having duly qualified before Court, he is authorized to celebrate the rites of matrimony.

In case of J. Frank Hampton vs. Southern Railway Co.—jury—and verdict for defendant company. This was a suit for damages for a horse-killed by a train on the W. & O., division of the Southern Railway Co., near Pursellville, some months ago. Garrett & Garrett represented Hampton and C. P. Janney the railroad company.

On Tuesday morning the attorneys for plaintiff moved to have the verdict set aside and asked a new trial, which the Court granted them and the case was set for rehearing at December court. Grand Jury found true bills of indictment against Geo. W. Survick and Brooke Survick for selling liquor without license.

Also a true bill against Geo. Sewell for felonious assault. On Tuesday morning Geo. W. Survick appeared in Court and entered into a recognizance in the sum $1,000 for his appearance on the first day of next term for trial.

Brooke Survick also gave bond in the sum of $300 with Geo. W. Survick his surety, for his appearance at the same time. A Birthday Party. Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Henkel gave a party to their little son James, in their home in Knoxville, in celebration of his eighth birthday, November 13. Master James was the recipient of a number of beautiful presents. The little folks arrived at 5:30 p. m. were received by Master James and conducted to the parlor where they joined in many interesting little games, until 8:30, when they proceeded to the dining-room, led by Master James and one of the little ladies, where they were served with ice-cream, cakes, candies, nuts, apples, pop-corn. The table was beautifully trimmed with flowers and evergreens; the pyramidal birthday Knoxville News. Special Correspondence, November 18th. Mr. James Reely, of Middletown, Va., spent this morning in town. Mrs. J. H. Miller is visiting her parental home in Bolivar, W. Va. Mr. Charles E. Virta, of near Waverton, is suffering with scarlet fever. Mr. E. C. Unger and little daughter, Nada, spent Monday in Martinsburg. Mr. H. W. Wood is able to be around again after a severe attack of typhoid fever.

Misses Grace and Ella Welton, of Brunswick, spent Sunday with Miss Bessie Siffer. The plasterers are putting on the finishing touches to Mr. C. A. Rice's new dwelling. Mrs. C. F. Willard was the guest of Mrs. J. W. Porter, of Brunswick, one day last week.

Mrs. Susan Unger, of McConnellsbury, Pa., spent from Saturday until Monday with E. C. Unger. Mr. Edward Merriman has removed to Brunswick, where he has secured work as brakeman on the yard. Misses Annie and Edith Kara, of Brunswick were the guests of Mr. Geo. Siffer and family Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. E. C. Unger and two children spent several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Porter, in Brunswick this week. Someone attempted to break into Mr. Jacob Mackenzie's house last Friday night, but was frightened away by the screams of Mrs. Mackenzie and the timely arrival of Mr. M. and others. Philip Dorsey, colored, who started in pursuit was hit in the breast by a stone.

An accident occurred at the Reformed church Sunday night last that might have been very serious had it happened a few minutes sooner. Rev. W. C. Sykes had just dismissed his congregation and the last light in the chandelier extinguished, when the chandelier gave way and fell to the floor, entirely demolishing everything. Had the lamps been burning there might have been a serious conflagration besides hurting someone.

Effect of Senator Bennett's Death. Section 13 of article 3 of the constitution makes it the duty of the Governor to issue a warrant of election to supply the vacancy occasioned by the death of Senator Bennett in Carroll county. The constitution requires ten days' notice of the special election to be given and the election law of 1890 requires the nomination papers of candidates to be filed with the supervisors of elections in the county at least ten days before the election. Presumably, therefore, a special election will be held in Carroll county, and if the warrant is issued shortly it can take place in time for the Senator elected to take his seat at the beginning of the session in January. The next Senate prior to the death of Mr. Bennett was composed of fourteen Democrats and twelve Republicans. The Democrats, therefore, had a clear majority. It will be seen that much depends upon the political complexion of Mr. Bennett's successor, to be selected at the coming special election. Should he be a Democrat the Senate would remain unchanged, but if the Republicans should carry the county the Senate would then be a tie. Mr. Bruce, of Baltimore city, would have the balance of power.

LYNCHED IN FREDERICK.

James Rowens, colored, who attempted to break into the jail on Sunday morning, was lynched by a mob of about 400 angry citizens.

James Rowens, a young colored man, who assaulted Miss Lillie Long, aged about twenty years, at the home of Hamilton Geisbert, about one mile south of Frederick, at 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, was taken from the county jail at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning by a mob of about four hundred men, and was hanged to a tree in the field of Wm. G. Butler, on the Jefferson turnpike, about one mile from Frederick. The tree upon which he was hanged was nearly opposite to the spot where "Bigus" was lynched in 1897. Early in the evening crowds of men gathered upon the streets and discussed the frequent attempted assaults which have been committed in this county in the past few months. The opinion was general that the negro should be lynched.

A report reached Frederick at 11:30 o'clock p. m. that the young lady had died from the effects of the beating and cuts the negro had administered. While this report was not true, it maddened the men, who were already in a high state of excitement. Several mobs were quickly organized, but they had no leader. After some delay a member of the mob stopped forward and assumed the leadership. Unmasked, but armed with revolvers and knives, the mob marched upon the jail, arriving there about 12:45 a. m.

It required about thirty minutes to effect an entrance into the jail. When the door was broken open the crowd rushed into the corridor, quickly overcoming the resistance which was offered by the deputies to protect their prisoner, and passing through the engine-room proceeded to the first cell on the ground floor, where Rowens was found in a corner, cowering and crying and pleading for mercy. Several blows of the sledge soon severed the lock from its fastenings, not, however, before one of the mob fired four shots at the prisoner, one of which took effect in his leg, producing a flesh wound only.

In the meantime about twenty-five shots were fired from the jail by Deputy Sheriff's Crum and Groff from a side window and the jail bell rang for assistance, but after three taps the cord broke. The crowd paid but little attention to the shots of the deputies, but proceeded with a determined will to accomplish their purpose.

After the heavy iron door was swung back the trembling wretch was seized by the crowd and dragged from his cell in his night clothing and without shoes. It was then discovered that no one had provided a rope, and the crowd was in a quandary where to obtain one. This was quickly settled by a young man, who lowered an electric lamp near the jail and cut the rope from it, extinguishing the light.

In an adjoining cell were Robinson, colored, who recently attempted an assault upon a colored girl in Lynchburg, and young Cruchley, a white man, of Waverton, who a charged with assault upon two white girls, aged twelve and sixteen. Both men thought the mob was after them, and they screamed and cried piteously for protection, but, forlornly for them, the crimes for which they were incarcerated were not known to the mob, or they might have shared a fate similar to that of Rowens, as the mob was aroused to a high state of excitement.

In going out the jail-yard Rowens requested the crowd to hurry up, and for his insolence received several blows from a blackjack upon his head.

Arriving at the tree, which had been selected as the scene of the execution, the negro was asked to confess and not to die with a lie upon his lips, but he made no reply. Much to the surprise of the lynchers, two Salvation Army men

A SAD DEATH.

Thomas Buxton Cut Down in the Bloom of Youth by that Fatal Disease, Consumption. Information was received in this town on last Saturday of the death of Thomas Buxton at the residence of his father, near Plane No. 4, after a lingering illness of over one year, caused by consumption, at the age of about 32 years. Mr. Buxton is well remembered by many of our citizens as the bright young telegraph operator, who had charge of the West End telegraph office in Brunswick for some time. About one year or more ago he went home on a leave of absence and suffered a severe spell of sickness. He came through it however very well and after a short trip to the East returned in this town and resumed his work. It was only for a short while however, as that fatal disease, consumption, had marked him for its victim, and about nine months ago he was obliged to give up his work and went to his home, which he never left again. During the past few months he had suffered terribly and death was no doubt a welcome relief to his suffering. He leaves to mourn his untimely end a kind father and loving mother, one sister and two brothers. The funeral was held on Monday morning, the interment was made in the Prospect, M. E. Church, near Mt. Airy. The large number of sorrowing friends, who paid their last tribute of respect to the deceased was evidence of the high esteem in which he was held by all who knew him. He was a member of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, and six members of his Order, as pall bearers, bore him to his last resting place. The floral offerings were numerous and impressive. A large number of friends of the deceased from this town attended the funeral, on Monday.

Thomas Buxton was a young man of most exemplary habits and kind, christian character. His early religious training, received from his parents, was his guiding motive in all the acts of his life and his intercourse with mankind was ever such as that spirit would inspire. Of a bright and cheerful disposition, open, free and manly in his acts, and kind and considerate in his dealing with his fellowmen, he won friends wherever he was known. He was a firm and constant member of the M. E. Church and died as a christian man, believing in the goodness of his God, and in a happy life beyond the grave, in that home not made by hands, Eternal with the Heavens. The afflicted family have the sympathy of many citizens of this town in their sad affliction.

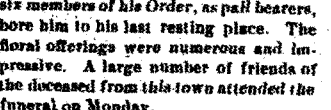

A Colored Ball. Mr. William King, one of this town's most worthy colored citizens will give a public ball to the colored people of the town and vicinity in Wenner, Swanik & Co.'s hall on Monday night. This ball is given in honor of William's uncle, Richard King Esq., a prominent lawyer of the Annapolis bar. Supper will be served to a number of invited guests. The Brunswick Cornet Band has been engaged to give a concert, and dancing music will be furnished by Prof. Jack's Orchestra, of Harper's Ferry.

Bar Corn for Sale. I have a fine lot of corn on the ear, suitable for fattening hogs or feeding stock, which I will deliver to any part of the town. Orders can be left at the store and will have prompt attention. ROY B. WENNER.

Conductor, L. M. Jenkins and Brakeman, J. J. Fling, of the Valley Mountain, left for Atlanta, Ga., on Monday last, to attend the exposition.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. C.

Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market.
It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for Thanksgiving Ball.

On order to raise money to make a payment on their new uniforms, the Brunswick corner band will hold a ball at Bruhn's Hotel on Thanksgiving night November 28. No effort will be spared to make this the most enjoyable ball of the season. Music will be furnished for the occasion by Solbert's or-chestra. The public is cordially invited to attend and a pleasant time is assured to all. Dancing at 7:30 p. m. Everyone is solicited to buy a ball ticket of the boys and help them in their worthy efforts to raise the money to pay for their uniforms.

The Sheriff's Appointments.

Sheriff-elect A. C. McBride made the following appointments of deputies on Saturday: Office deputy, Horace E.
Staley, Tuscarora; riding deputy, James H. Crum, Woodsboro; warden, Benjamin Shaw, Middletown. Mr. McBride will assume charge of his duties the first of December.

One hundred and fifty invitations have been issued for the B. of L. E. ball tonight and it promises to be a big affair.

Knoxville, Thanksgiving evening, November 28, at 7:30 o'clock. The entertainment will be under the auspices of the ladies of the church, the entire proceeds to be applied to the church. Mr. and Mrs. Barnett accept nothing for their services, and by this means have raised thousands of dollars for the churches. The views which consist of scenes in our principal cities, California, Colorado, Florida, the magnificent Yose-mets Valley and Yellowstone Park, and points of interest along the Canadian Pacific Railroad were made by eminent artists and will be magnified by a powerful stereopticon, illuminated by strong lime light. This is pronounced by the press and pulpit as one of the most interesting entertainments of the kind given by anyone and no doubt the people of the vicinity will show their appreciation by crowding the church and helping this worthy cause. The admission will be 25 cents for adults and 10 cents

Burglars at Lime Kiln.

Burglars visited the store of the M. J.
Grove Lime Company, at Lime Kiln, Monday night. They at first tried to prize open the front door to the store, but failing there went to the cellar door, where they lifted the whole frame away.
Securing two bags of meat, they attempted to get into the store from the cellar, but were unsuccessful. Finally they got in through the office window. Here they were discovered about 2 o'clock by Mr. Wm. J. Grove, who called his brother, Mr. Bernard Grove. The latter shot at one of the robbers and thinks the shot took effect, from the fact that marks of blood were left behind. There were three men in the gang. They left their tools and valise, and ran across the railroad towards Washington Junction.
Their booty consisted of one hundred pennies, all that were in the safe, and a number of promissory notes. The store has been burglarized several times.

A Quiet Wedding.

Mr. Noah E. Cramer, of Frederick, and Miss Ella Kate, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hooks, of near Frederick, were married Tuesday afternoon, November 12, at 4 o'clock, by Rev. Dr.
D. H. Eschbach, at the home of the bride.
The marriage was a quiet one, the invitations having been recalled on account of the recent death of the mother of the groom.

Sermon to the Juniors.

Rev. S. E. Slater, pastor of the Lutheran church will deliver a Thanksgiving sermon to Brunswick Council No. 21, Jr.
O. U. A. M., on next Sunday, November 24, in the Lutheran church at Knoxville.
A special train will leave Brunswick for Knoxville at 2:15 p. m.; returning will leave Knoxville at 4:30 p. m. appeared upon the scene and requested to be allowed to pray with the doomed man. This was granted. The Lord's Prayer was then recited and the negro and the lynchers joined in repeating it.

Bowens' hands and feet were then tied and the rope tightened around his neck.
The other end was then thrown over the limb of the large tree and the command given. "Let him go." In an instant he was jerked off his feet and was dangling about five feet in the air. He uttered a few groans, when one shot was fired, then he was motionless.

After the lynching a member of the mob made a brief speech, in which he said: "It is not with a spirit of malice toward this unfortunate wretch or his race that we are here, but it is to teach the mass of his class that they must let the white women of Frederick county alone or suffer the consequence, of which this is an example." After greeting their leader the mob, among whom there were and repaired to their homes.

The crime for which Bowens suffered the penalty of death was a most cruel and brutal one, and one of the most fendish ever committed in this county.
About 5 o'clock Saturday evening Bowens stopped at Mr. Geisbert's home for something to eat. Miss Long gave him some bread and meat, which he ate.
After surveying the situation and finding the lady alone in the house, he offered her one dollar, and at the same time making an indecent proposal. She ran screaming from the house, pursued by the fiend, who overtook her in the garden and knocked her down with a blow of his fist. While his victim lay prostrate he took a pair of scissors and cut a gash four inches long on the left side of the throat, nearly covering the jugular vein. He then stabbed her several times in the breast inflicting painful wounds and cut a deep gash in the back of her neck at the base of her skull. Not yet satisfied with his fiendish work, he nearly severed her nose from her face with the scissors. Notwithstanding her numerous wounds Miss Long fought desperately.
The negro succeed in tearing off all her under garments. Her screams attracted Mr. Geisbert and son, who were working in a cornfield near the house. Seeing their approach, the negro took to the fields and went toward Frederick.

An alarm was quickly sounded and a description of the negro furnished by the lady and William Warner, an adjoining farmer; of whom Bowens had asked for something to eat an hour earlier. A number of farmers started in pursuit with rifles and shotguns determined, they said, to kill the negro at sight.
