

THE LYNCHING OF THE NEGRO KING.

The lynching of the negro boy King last Wednesday night was a well directed blow at civil government. The taking away from the community of a vicious negro boy is inconsiderable in comparison to the shock which our civil government sustains, and what is most appalling is that there are so many good citizens in the community who give the act a quasi indorsement.

The negro boy was probably guilty of wilful homicide. The evidence given before the Coroners' Jury at the inquest held over the remains of young Kenney seems to warrant such a belief, but is the community warranted in believing that we have no civil government and that the culprit would not have been justly dealt with? How can a citizen who has sworn his allegiance to the government to support the constitution, deliberately join in a procession to do violence to the law and to his own oath. Men join in an act of violence of this character and others give it their endorsement without realizing the seriousness of the offense. Such an act means that we have no confidence in our civil government. We show doubt that our Grand Jurors are honest, capable men, that they will investigate all charges brought before them and present all those guilty to the court. They have no confidence that an impartial trial will be vouchsafed by our court and Justice meted out to the offenders of the law.

Is there a lack of confidence in our government? If so the proper method for the officers of the law to pursue to establish confidence is to probe this matter and seek out the offenders.

Those who witnessed the lynching say it was a most harrowing thing.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucasus, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined?

Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtaxed, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then come the vultures—the torments of a diseased liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is in hanging one's self. Sold by all medicine dealers the world over.

You Can't Get Rested

Because that tired feeling is not the result of exertion. It is due to the unhealthy condition of your blood. This vital fluid should give nourishment to every organ, nerve and muscle. But it cannot do this unless it is rich and pure. That is what you want to cure that tired feeling—pure, rich blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla will help you "get rested." It will give you pure, rich blood, give you vigor and vitality and brace you up so that you may feel well all through the coming summer. If you have never tried Hood's Sarsaparilla, do so now, and see how it energizes and vitalizes your whole system.
