WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14, 1898.

It was fitting that Mr. Perry Heath, who is acting Postmaster General while the Postmaster General is on the stump, and who owes his present position to Boss Hanna, should be the mouthpiece of the administration in informing the Federal office holders that they are expected to pitch in and take an active part in the Congressional campaign. Being a newspaper man himself, Mr. Heath knew that this information could be more adroitly given through the newspapers than by means of personal communications to the office holders. He gave out a carefully prepared interview with himself, this week, in which he invited the office holders to come to the rescue of the g. o. p.

Having taken a sufficient quantity of one-sided testimony for use in the Congressional campaign, Mr. McKinley's alleged investigating committee will start on Sunday for a pleasant autumn tour of the camps, beginning with that of Gen. Fitz Lee at Jacksonville, Fla. Why this junket is taken only the Commission knows. It will be as useless as that of Secretary Alger, a short time ago, but it will probably fill in the time until after the elections.

Representative Elliott of S. C., has succeeded in getting Secretary Long to order four U. S. war vessels to proceed to Charleston for the purpose of participating in the Peace Jubilee, to be held in that city on the 24th inst. The ships ordered to Charleston are the Wilmington, the Nashville, the Montgomery, and the Princeton.

That the authorities do not intend to punish those guilty of neglecting their duties in connection with the care of our soldiers, even when their guilt is plainly shown, is made plain by the recommendation of Surgeon-General Sternberg in the case of Contract Surgeon Tabor, who was charged with having caused the death of Private Hugh Parrett, at Camp Wikoff, by his neglect and incompetence. The evidence taken by a board of inquiry is understood to have left no loaut of the charge. Instead of recommending some fitting punishment, or that the surgeon be declared exonerated, in accordance with his guilt or innocence, Surgeon General Sternberg merely recommends that Dr. Tabor's contract as an army surgeon be cancelled, which is, in effect, declaring him guilty and then letting him go without punishment.

It is estimated that Representative De Graffenreid, of Texas, whose fame as an orator has been widely spread by his colleagues in the House, has received invitations to speak in a larger number of Congressional districts than any individual ever received in a single campaign. Much as he would like to help all of his democratic friends, Mr. De Graffenreid cannot speak at all these places, but he will devote his entire time until election to making speeches, and will cover as much ground as possible.

After awhile, it will get so that this government can do nothing without some syndicate being allowed to get a big profit out of the transaction, if things continue to go as they have gone under this Hanna regime. It was syndicates that compelled the government to pay fancy prices for vessels it bought for use in the war, and now that a board of naval officers have recommended the sale of a number of vessels that are no longer needed, a

As to Lynching.

Laurel Journal.

Laws can be enacted that will stop lynchings, but the present Maryland law will not do it. In such cases as that in Anne Arundel county, lynching cannot be prevented so long as the punishment of the offender is delayed, and the story of the crime must be told by the unfortunate woman in open court. While the present law, dealing with this crime, stands on the statute books, the consummate scoundrels guilty of it may expect death without benefit of clergy. * * * * * * Altogether, public sentiment in Anne Arundel, as would be the case in any other county, upholds the lynching. Whatever may be the view taken by outsiders of the attitude of Anne Arundel, there is one thing that must be recognized—the people over there are entitled to respect and commendation for coming out openly and saying what they really think about the lynching, without any hypocritical pretensions of "regret."
